We've been working with Bond Consulting Group for almost 10 years now. Almost everything we've ever submitted has been accepted as filed, which is a great relief for us. The year that CRA did visit us, Bond was right there with us, to make sure we understood eligibility, and how to respond to CRAs questions. The SR&ED program is so important to us, and we couldn't do it without Bond Consulting.

Our experience with Bond Consulting was fantastic. We had heard of SR&ED before, but the task of understanding the program seemed intimidating until we met with them. They made it easy for us to understand and relate to the program. And even though our transaction was small, Bond provided us with a substantial strategic review. The review allowed us to maximize our results with the program. We highly recommend Bond, for any business, large or small. Julie and her team of skilled analysts were professional. Their diligence to our case was evident. They responded to our questions in a timely manner. We are profoundly grateful for the awareness we attained over the past couple of years through Bond. Consistent and top tier; we highly recommend their services.

We made the mistake of leaving Bond Consulting Group once many years ago, thinking that we could save a bit of money. We'll never make that mistake again.

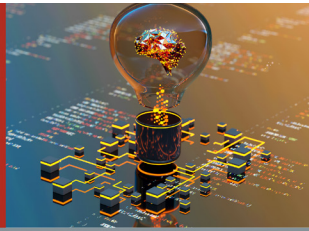

Our SR&ED claim was denied in full, it was an awful experience. When it comes to dealing with CRA, Julie and her analysts never let us down, we know they're experts and will fight to the end for us.

Hiring Bond Consulting Group was the best SR&ED decision we've ever made. Julie and her team know the program like the back of their hands, and Julie is a veritable SR&ED guru. Our claim before Bond got denied and our consultant did not do much while we were left with having to do almost all the work. Bond was a refreshing change as their team of analysts jump in and do the heavy lifting. Bond has been with us every step of the way when CRA came to visit, and what a relief that was to us.

We really enjoyed working with Bond Consulting, their staff provided us with excellent guidance. They led us through the entire SR&ED process and were able to communicate equally well with all members of our team. After discussing our work and documentation with Bond Consulting over two meetings and a few emails they were able to prepare two successful SR&ED claims that were accepted as filed. Their expertise really became evident when they helped us maximize our claim through their proven strategy and knowledge of our industry. Bond Consulting was able to help us recoup valuable money that we are planning to reinvest in our company and product.
